SUED BY AUDITORS*North Union Officials Charged
With Misappropriating Funds.*DAVID COLE STARTS ACTION*He Claims That N. E. Murphy Is Not Entitled to Serve on the Board and Judge Van Swearingen Will Hear the Case Next Month.

Suit was entered this morning at Uniontown against the Road Supervisors of North Union township, and David Cole instituted quo warranto proceedings against N. E. Murphy, to remove him from the board of supervisors. The suit is to recover on a surcharge of $1,881 against Isaac Hockmeyer, Calvin Inks and Nathan E. Murphy, members of the board.

It is alleged that the Road Supervisors wilfully and negligently misused the funds of the district, not only misappropriating monies at different times, but purchasing material ostensibly for use on the highways of the district and then, it is alleged, turned over to individuals for their personal use.

Another action affecting the Road Supervisors was started today when David Cole instituted quo warranto proceedings against N. E. Murphy, to remove him from the board of supervisors. He claims that under the law he holds over, but that Murphy, elected this fall, has usurped his office.

Judge Van Swearingen issued a rule returnable the second Monday in January calling upon Murphy to show cause why he should not relinquish his position in favor of Cole.

CONFERENCE, Dec. 14.—(Special.)DESTROY REMNANTS*In the Gardens and Fields Advises Prof. H. A. Surface.

Prof. H. A. Surface, State Zoologist, Harrisburg, calls attention to the importance of promptly destroying the remnants of garden plants and truck crops at this time of year, rather than leaving them in the gardens or fields until spring. It destroyed now, many of their pests are destroyed with them; if allowed to remain until spring, many of these pests have opportunity to winter.

DESTROY REMNANTS

The vines of potatoes, cucumbers, squash, melons, etc., should be raked together and thrown on dry straw or brush and burned. This gets rid of both the insects and fungous diseases lurking therein. The old asparagus plants should be cut off and burned, and straw spread over the asparagus bed and burned thereon at once to get rid of the asparagus beetles, and then the soil containing the asparagus roots can be well mulched with a cover of litter or straw to protect them during the winter.

DESTROY REMNANTS

It is especially important that the stalks of cabbage plants and the imperfect heads should be removed and fed to pigs or cattle, or kept in storage in a cold place to feed to poultry during the winter. Even the old stalks from which heads have been cut should be removed from the soil and treated as directed above, or burned. Several kinds of pests are liable to be found upon these old stalks or the leaves clinging thereto. The best way to destroy them is to feed them to livestock or burn them.

GOVERNMENTS PLANS FOR PROSECUTING DYNAMITERS

Sweeping Investigation as a Whole
Is to Be Conducted
From Indianapolis.

GOVERNMENTS PLANS FOR PROSECUTING DYNAMITERS

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 14.—The detailed plans of the government's sweeping investigation of dynamite conspirators now planned and revealed for the first time at the department of justice.

The sweeping investigation, as a whole, is to be directed at Indianapolis. The federal grand jury at Indianapolis begins its "great task" today. The general work will be completely in charge of District Attorney Miller of Indianapolis.

The Los Angeles grand jury will continue its work to discovering violations of federal law involved in the Times explosion and the dynamiting of the Livelyville iron works. Oscar Lawler, appointed special assistant to the attorney general, will have charge of the Los Angeles work through the Los Angeles grand jury.

The purpose of the government is to prosecute directly under federal statutes, and not merely to use alleged violations of the interstate commerce act as an excuse for gathering evidence. The penalties for violation of federal laws alleged, are sufficiently severe under four sections of the penal code, in the opinion of the department.

Should the investigation uncover proof of murder, much evidence will be turned over to the authorities of the state in which the murder was committed.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Dec. 14.—Eighty-four hours after he climbed through the window of the Metropolitan hotel and escaped from the custody of the deputy marshal, Harry Waldron, the missing juror, was brought into court at 11 o'clock this morning, pale and haggard from dodging the police. Physicians declare he was undoubtedly insane. Judge Porterfield examined the juror to determine whether to dismiss the jury in the case.

Later last night Judge Porterfield received word from Mrs. Waldron that her husband was in Kansas City, thinking that she meant Kansas City, Kansas, the judge jumped into a taxi-cab and dashed across the river. After hours of searching it was discovered that Mrs. Waldron had gone to her husband who was in this city and Judge Porterfield returned to the Waldron house, arriving there shortly after 9 o'clock this morning.

Waldron, when he heard the judge coming, entered a closet and looked the door, but was finally persuaded to come out and tell his story to the judge. He said he contemplated suicide after his escape on account of homesickness and business worries. He returned home because he feared his wife might be ill.

Edna Gregory, a colored school girl of Swanton, whose age is said to be but 15 years, was abducted for prayer meeting last evening and did not return. This morning Constable John Snyder of Connellsville township found the girl and David Wornick, also colored, at Valley works and arrested them on warrants issued by Squire Joseph Stillwagon, at the instance of C. M. Gregory, father of the girl. The girl is charged with incorrigibility and Wornick with abduction. The hearing will be held this afternoon by Squire Stillwagon.

It is said that Wornick met the girl last evening and instead of going to church he headed for Valley works, arriving there about 11 o'clock. They spent the night with friends of Wornick's. The morning Constable Snyder found the girl about 6 o'clock at one of the houses at Valley. He arrested Wornick on the "cave" rans. He is employed at Valley.

Wornick declared he intended to marry the girl, and wants to carry out that intention. Gregory, the father of the girl, it is said, opposes the match because of the tender age of the girl, but it is probable offers will be made to effect a settlement of the case.

BOOM IN STEELIndustry Coming Year Is Predicted by H. C. Frick.

NEW YORK, Dec. 14.—(Special.)—H. C. Frick, in conversation with a friend yesterday declared recent improvements in business would increase until the steel trade was back again to its position of 1909, when the greatest amount of material ever produced in the country's history was turned out.

BOOM IN STEEL

Besides the views of Mr. Frick, other highly optimistic predictions for the steel industry were heard in banking and financial quarters today. The President of one of the largest banks in Pittsburgh was quoted to the effect that his institution had begun placing itself in a position to take advantage in 1912 of the biggest year in a steel trade history. Furthermore, evidence was not lacking that steel trade operations had increased greatly since early in the autumn, so that such beliefs as these had at least a seemingly sound basis.

Since the opening of the present week the New York financial district has been treated to more optimistic reports on the trade outlook of the United States than in any other three day period in the last three years. Nearly all of them have hinged on the iron and steel situation, which is brighter now than at any time earlier in the year. Previous trade booms have been preceded by general buying of steel and iron, and all present indications, according to the glowing "Wall Street" reports, now point to a burst of activity in the steel trade which soon will find reflection everywhere else.

The United States Steel Corporation this week has booked new orders at a rate of 50,000 tons a day, as compared with an average of 30,000 not long ago. Unfilled orders now on its books are the largest in 18 months, and are increasing at the rate of 15,000 tons a day.

INDUSTRIAL DOINGS AROUND SCOTSDALE

Old Meadow Mill Scheduled to Resume in Full Next Monday.

A PAY DAY NEXT SATURDAY

Scottdale Furnace Repairs Being Rushed to Completion—President Schaffer Names Standing Committee of Council

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, Dec. 14.—The industrial outlook in and around Scottdale is promising for the year of 1912, according to the census of opinion among those who are in a position to know. Although some of the plants are not at present making full time it is expected that they will begin running full about the first of the year. The Old Meadow plant of the American Sheet & Tin Plate Company will resume operations in full next week, probably commencing with the midnight turn or early Monday morning. During the short shutdown now closing, extensive repairs and improvements were made to the mill. The Scottdale mill will also run full force. The employees of the sheet mill will be paid on December 16 and 23 instead of December 16 and 20, thus providing the mill workers with Christmas money. The pay on Saturday will be a three weeks' one.

The repairs to the Scottdale furnace are being rushed to completion, and the cupola will soon be in shape. It is said that the furnace will go on in full as soon as the repairs are made. The Frick car shops are not working full force, but the improving outlook of firing of ovens, upon which the car shops depend, indicates at least nearly full time and full force by the first of the year.

The U. S. Casket Company is putting in seven days a week, with overtime. Besides a large warehouse in Pittsburgh, the company employs traveling salesmen for the trade in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland, West Virginia and Virginia. The Scottdale Foundry & Machine Company is reported on full time, with some large orders and expects to open the year with the plant going in full. The U. S. Casket Co. and Foundry are working full time in plant "A." The resumption of plant "B" is somewhat problematical, but there are hopes for a brightening of the pipe industry. Freight traffic over the P., R. R. and B. & O. railroads is more brisk than in a long time, coke traffic being reported heavier than for months. The smaller plants about Scottdale are working full time, and expectations for the first of the year are hopeful.

COUNCIL COMMITTEES.

Incidentally the reader will do well to clip this out for reference in the future. The first named is chairman of the committee, appointments are: Finance, M. L. Hines; J. F. Linquist and William Butler, Streets, J. F. Linquist, Arthur E. Collins and J. F. Hardy, Sewers, H. O. Martz, J. M. Pyle and L. Roy Baker, Fire and Water, W. T. Macey, O. M. Jarrett and J. G. IS YOUR SKIN ON FIRE?

HERE IS A RELIABLE HEALING APPLICATION FOR ECZEMA.

Try This Remedy at Our Risk.

"If I could only get a relief from this terrible itching I would give anything," said an eczema sufferer the other day.

It is very easy for us to advise in such matters now, for our new remedy (Saxon Salve) for skin disease of all sorts, stops the itching right away.

But better than that it makes the skin healthy again. It is made so as to penetrate right into the skin and saturate every portion with its healing germ-destroying power.

Even in a few days you can see that Saxon Salve is doing its work. It clears away the eruption.

No other skin remedy can do so much for you as Saxon Salve. It is guaranteed—if it does not satisfy you when used for any skin disorder we give back your money. Graham & Company, Druggists, Connellsville, Pa.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one remedial disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. This is a constitutional disease, positive cure now known to the medical fraternity, Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing her work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Sold by all Druggists. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

Particularly the Ladies.

Not only pleasant and refreshing to the taste, but gently cleansing and sweetening to the system, Syrup of Figs and Chlor of Senna is particularly adapted to ladies and children, and beneficial in all cases in which a wholesome, strengthening and effective laxative should be used. It is perfectly safe at all times and dispels colds, headaches and the pains caused by indigestion and constipation so promptly and effectively that it is the one perfect family laxative which gives satisfaction to all and is recommended by millions of families who have used it and who have personal knowledge of its excellence.

Its wonderful popularity, however, has led unscrupulous dealers to offer imitations which act unsatisfactorily. Therefore, when buying, to get its beneficial effects, always note the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package of the genuine Syrup of Figs and Chlor of Senna.

For sale by all leading druggists. Price 50 cents per bottle.

THURSDAY EVE'G., DEC. 14, 1911.

The Harnessing of the Cheat.
The water rights on the Cheat have at last been taken over by enterprising capitalists and will be developed. The Cheat river will be harnessed. Its wasted energies will be devoted to the generation of power for the manufacture of electricity and for other useful purposes.

It is only within the past few years that the wonderful possibilities of water power have been seriously considered for modern purposes, though such use was common a century ago, long before the age of steam and electricity.

While the purpose of the power development of the Cheat river is given out to the public, the electric lighting and heat section of West Virginia, it will probably be found that a portion of the power will be devoted to other enterprises not yet mentioned but which will inevitably develop.

Get Busy.
The Chamber of Commerce will start the new year with a new President and with a fresh purpose to start something in Connelville. Every progressive citizen should encourage by every means in his power any and all movement toward the location of additional industries here. If Connelville expects to go forward, there must be no halting in the work already accomplished.

The Chamber of Commerce ought to get busy.

The message that Henry Clay Frick sends to the Pittsburgh steel district, and incidentally to the Connelville coke region, is a gladsome Christmas gift.

"The editorials in the Connelville Courier read as if they had been written by the village blacksmith," says the Uniontown High Water Mark Herald. If we remember correctly the village blacksmith was the hardest hit in the community. Thanks, Professor.

The Tennessee mine disaster presents the pathetic picture of pent miners fleeing madly from rescue and illustrates in a shockingly vivid manner the horrors of such a situation.

The Dawson Black Hand seems to have a nimble foot.

The new D. & C. tunnel at Sand Patch has come through.

John E. Shields has qualified as County Commissioner of Westmoreland county. He is determined to hold office as long as he can.

It is to be hoped that the Salvation Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will have no trouble charting the course of success and pointing the way.

The Connelville show business will not be ruined, but it will be regulated. No reasonable citizen will question the propriety of this decision on the part of the Burgess.

The School Board at last has a parliamentary organization.

When the Lake Erie starts to build any new construction, or other important improvement, it never indulges in futile dalliances.

Franklin township is still suspected of being gas and oil territory.

Chicago gets the Republican National Convention. We do not share the timid fear that the Convention will be on the Hog.

The Uniontown Herald persists in telling us how to think and in return asks us to tell it how to think. It's not a fair exchange.

Jesse Hook Wiley says the Republican political machine of Fayette county "choked the system on him." In view of the overwhelming majority against him, it must have been a great change in a great system. It looks as though Jesse "had the people to change on him."

The Postoffice Department is at last on a paying basis, and one-cent postage is in sight. Not only has the country grown, but the use of stamps has increased in even greater proportion.

Connellsville is no way station. It's a railroad as well as a commercial center. It's a main line city.

CHAPTER XXVI.

White and Coral.

Spring in Paris, which comes in a fashion so divine that even the most calloused and indifferent are impressed by its beauty, awakened no answering response in the heart of the young man who, from his hotel window, looked out on the desecrated gardens of the Tuilleries—on the distant spires of churches whose names he did not know—on the square block of old palaces. He had missed the boat across the channel taken by Letty Lane, and the delay had made him lose what little trace of her he had. In the early hours of the morning he had flung himself in at the St. James, taken the indifferent room they could give him in the crowded season, and excited as he was he slept and did not waken until noon. Blair thought it would be a matter of few hours only to find the whereabouts of the celebrated actress, but it was not such an easy job. He had not guessed that she might be traveling incognito, and at none of the hotels could he hear news of her, nor did he pass her in the crowded, noisy, bustling, crying streets, though he searched motors for her with eager eyes, and haunted restaurants and cafes, and went everywhere that he thought she might be likely to be.

At the end of the third day, unsuccessful and in despair, having hardly slept and scarcely eaten, the unhappy young lover found himself taking the slight luncheon in the little restaurant known as the Perouse down on the Quai. His head on his hand, for the present moment the joy of life gone from him, he looked out through the windows at the bridge at the bridge and the lines of flowering trees. He was the only occupant of the upper room where, of late, he had ordered his luncheon.

The tide of life rolled slowly in this quiet part of the city, and as Blair sat there under the window there passed a piper playing a shrill, sweet tune. It was so different from any of the loud metropolitan clamors, with which his ears were full, that he got up, walked to the window and leaned out. It was a man piping, followed by little pattering goats; the primitive, unlooked-for picture caught his tired attention, and, just then, opposite the Quai, two women passed—flower sel-

"Why," said Ruggles quietly, "I told her you were poor, and she turned you down."

Here, their baskets bright with crocuses and gladioli. The bright picture touched his and something of the spring-like beauty that not the day wore and that dwelt in the May light soothed him as nothing had for many hours.

He paid his bill, took courage, picked up his hat and gloves and stuck and walked out briskly, crossing the bridge to the Rue de Rivoli, determined that night should not fall until he found the woman he sought. Nor did it, though the afternoon wore on and Dan, pursuing his old trail, wandered from worldly meeting place to worldly meeting place. Finally, toward six o'clock, he saw the languishing shadows steal into the woods of the Bois de Boulogne, and in one of the smaller alleys, where the green-trunked trees of the forests were full of purple shadows and yellow sun discs, flickering down, he picked up a small iron chest and sat himself down, with a long sigh, to rest.

While he sat there watching the end of the alley as it gave out into the broader road, a beautiful red motor rolled up to the conjunction of the two ways and Letty Lane, in a summer frock, got out alone. She had a flowing white veil around her head and a flowing white scarf around her shoulders. As the day on the Thames, she was all in white—like a dove. But this time her costume was made vivid and picturesque by the coral parasol she carried, a pair of coral-colored kid shoes, around her neck and falling on their long chain, she wore his coral beads. He saw that he observed her face before she did him. All this Dan saw before he darted into the road, came up to her with something like a cry on his lips, hunched over like a bat and his stick and his gloves were by his chair in the woods. Letty Lane's hands went to her heart and her face took on a deadly pallor. She did not seem glad to see him. Out of his passionate description of the hours that he had been through, of how he had looked for her, of what he thought and wanted, and felt, the actress made what she could, listening to him as they both stood there under the shadows of the green trees. Scanning her face for some sign that she loved him, for it was all he cared for, Dan saw no such indication there. He finished with:

"You know what Ruggles told you was a lie. Of course, I've got money enough to give you everything you want. He's a lunatic and ought to be shut up."

"It may have been a lie, all right," she said with forced indifference; "I've had time to think it over. You are too young. You don't know what you want." She stopped his protestations: "Well, then, I am too old and I don't want to be tied down."

When he pressed her to tell him whether or not she had ceased to care for him, she shook her head slowly, marking on the ground fine tracery with the end of her coral parasol. He had been obliged to take her back to the red motor, but before they were in earshot of her servants, he said:

"Now, you know just what you have done to me, you and Ruggles between you. For my father's sake and the thing I believed in I've kept pretty straight as things go." He nodded at her with boyish egotism, throwing all the blame on her. "I want you to understand that from now, right now, I'm going to do just as I see fit. I can get there, and it won't be a very gratifying result to anybody that ever cared."

She saw the determination on his fine young face, worn by his sleepless nights, already matured and changed, and she believed him.

"But," he nodded toward the gate in the woods which opened upon Paris, "is the place to begin in—right here. A man," he went on, and his lips trembled, "can only feel like this once in his life. You know all the talk there is about young love and first love. Well, that's what I've got for you, and I'm going to turn it now—right now—into what older people warm men from, and do their best to prevent. I have seen enough of Paris," he went on, "these days I have been looking for you, to know where to go and what to do, and I am setting off for it now."

She touched his arm.

"No," she murmured. "No, boy, you are not going to do any such thing!"

SAME SAD STORY ONCE MORE; WASHINGTON AGAIN A VICTIM

But Report Says Manager Davis Has Bought Another Team and It May Be Different Soon.

Games Tonight.
Washington at Uniontown.
South Side at Johnstown.

It was the same sad story again last night. This time it was Johnstown who smothered it over Washington, 49-25. In the second half the Washingtonians outpointed the Johns, making 26 of their 29 points in that session.

Manager Holmes Davis announced last night that he had purchased the fast Hickmott team, that last season lost only three games out of 31 that were played. Brady will be the only member of the Washington team retained. It is hoped to have the team ready to meet Uniontown tonight.

The Cokers do not play until tomorrow night. Uniontown is the attraction here and the attendance will likely be larger than ever. The Cokers should be fresh for the contest. They haven't been overworked this week.

"AUNT MARY" PLEASED.

Audience Wasn't Dargo Last Night But It Was Appreciative.
"The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" kept a small audience in an uproar at the Soisson last evening. Miss Helen Lowell, as "Aunt Mary" was just about the whole work. Her most able assistant was Emily Lorraine as "Luluinda."
There isn't a great deal to "The Rejuvenation of Aunt Mary" other than lots of fun and a strain of sentiment that crops out here and there throughout the three acts.

The world's record for open hearth steel production was broken and a new one made at midnight on Friday when the department known as No. 2 Open Hearth of the Carnegie Steel Company at Homestead, closed a 24-hour run with a record of 3,951 tons. This is the highest record for open hearth steel production ever made by a 24-hour plant. The previous record was 3,717 tons.

In the Basement Toy World

A man, it was L. Frank Baum, I believe, wrote a book and titled it "The Life and Adventures of Santa Claus."

He says that the really truly Santa Claus was a tiny baby just about to be eaten up by a lioness when he was found by A.K., the Master Woodman of the World in the great forest of Burzee where all the Fairies Kookas, Kuls and Nymphs have their playground.

He grew up among these good people and they taught him how to make toys for all the children in the world.

That was a long, long time ago, but as everybody knows, Santa Claus will live as long as children believe in him. And although there are millions and millions more children in the world than there used to be, Santa Claus has never been known to complain of their increasing numbers.

Of course he has to have a great many workmen now to make the toys for so many little ones—and good stores to distribute them—with the basement toy world the biggest distributing point hereabouts.

So, this year, he sent us toys the likes of which you never saw before and the old favorites are here too—new, brand, shining new.
